Red lamp: Official placings decided

Blue lamp: Stewards' inquiry in progress

The blue "Shingi" (Inquiry) lamp on the results board near the finishing post means that an incident during the race is being investigated. The final placings may change as a result, so don't throw your betting tickets away just yet! When the red "Kakutei" (Official) lamp goes on, it means that the placings have been officially decided. Now you can cash in your winning bets. Payouts are indicated as the amount paid for a ¥100 bet. They can be checked via Turf Vision, on-track monitors and through on-track announcements.

A "photo finish" is used to decide the winner when the finish is too close to call.

Payouts are made from automatic payout machines.

All you do is put the winning slip in the slot. The winnings will be calculated and paid out automatically.
